NORMAL SENIORS WORK VERY HARD

PREPARING PLAT, PAGEANT AND MANY ARE STILL IN SCHOOL.

ANNUAL DRAMA WILL PLEASE THE CRITICAL

"The Thread of Destiny" Is Story of Civil War With Eleanor Richey
and Henry Miller as "Stars."

"The Thread of Destiny," the play to be given by the Normal seniors next Monday night, contains a story which can scarcely fail in its appeal to the average mind. Love, honor, pride, fidelity, and other abstract qualities, which stimulate men to greater exertions, are given a new meaning. They are emphasized in such a way that one is compelled to think that, after all, these unseen factors are almost life itself. But no play could be true to life unless it also revealed other qualities, those which make life a continual struggle. Thus it is that selfishness and passion are given a place.

For the lovers of humor there is also something of interest. In one scene humor predominates, but in the next, laughter will be changed to tears. Love scenes and frivolities of youth are to be found in the first named scenes, while love for the home and kindred is emphasized so strongly that the admiration for heroic sacrifice is aroused. In those days prior to the Civil war, when questions of slavery and session were uppermost in the minds of men, Colonel Montgomery, a wealthy Virginian, dwells with his family, in peace and happiness. Even the slaves are lavish in their praise of the prosperous times.

The day for the marriage of Virginia, the Colonel's daughter, to a handsome neighbor boy, has arrived, and all are filled with happy expectation. But a cloud obscures that day's happiness.

Fort Sumter has been fired upon, the President has issued his call for troops, and Virginia joins the secessionists. The Colonel and his son leave for the front, little knowing what war in its reality means. Virginia's lover decides that he must join the Federal forces, and bear arms against his beloved state.

Love Predicts Reuniting. Virginia taunts him bitterly for his action. He leaves her in anger, telling her that some day the thread of destiny will bring them together again.

The war continues, the South is over-run, and the Colonel's home, once almost a picture of paradise, now becomes a desolate waste. The President liberates the slaves. They recognize no law but "the law of the master" and refuse to leave him.

Southern ladies, reared in luxury, reveal their better qualities, and show by their noble sacrifices that "Virginia did not send all her bravest soldiers to war." Added to all these misfortunes, selfishness and passion begin to assert themselves. But, destiny, as it always does, gives love and fidelity the victory over them.

The South now realizes that General Sherman's definition of war is a burning reality. They also see that their foes are noble ones and that there is nothing so grand or majestic as a United people under one flag. The war terminates, and all are once more united. Destiny brings the lovers together and their romance culminates as it does in all books. But there is one cloud to darken the sunshine. Colonel Montgomery has given his life for what he deemed right, and his absence casts a shadow over the household.

Miller and Richey Leads. Miss Eleanor Richey and Henry A. Miller take the leading parts as Virginia and her sweetheart, Peyton Bailey.

The other characters are: Colonel Montgomery, a gentleman of the old school—Lowell Livengood. Mrs. Montgomery, a true Virginian—Ivan Barnes.

Bettie Montgomery, the little colonel—Nancy Gustin. Beverly Montgomery, a Confederate scout—Charles McReynolds.

Edith Sherman, the Northern cousin—Elizabeth Sobbing. Sallie Ann and Laura Lee, the Fairfax twins—Edith Callahan and Villa Waller.

Tom Randolph, a Southern gallant—Joe Lukens.

Martha, Susan and Jane, three Southern girls—Hazel Wallace, Grace

G.O.P. Convention Notes

Special to The Democrat-Forum. After the preliminaries of organization, which usually occupy the first two sessions, the convention will nominate a candidate for president, adopt the party platform, and adjourn. Arrangements will be made to hold night sessions if necessary.

Old timers, some of them, are talking of Warren G. Harding and wonder if 1880 is to be repeated this year. Thirty-six years ago, two strong candidates, Ulysses S. Grant and James G. Blaine, deadlocked; and James A. Garfield, chairman of the convention, who had scarcely been thought of before, was nominated. Grant and Blaine are replaced this year by Hughes and Roosevelt. The 1880 convention was held in this city, too.

TOMORROW'S CONVENTION PROGRAM.

11 A. M.—Report of committee on credentials.

Adoption of the permanent roll of the convention.

Report of the committee on permanent organization.

Reports of the committee on rules and order of business.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, who has attended every Republican convention except two since 1860, is a center of attraction. Almost the entire delegation of the G. O. P. in congress is here. By a gentlemen's agreement no legislation in Washington will be taken up while the Republicans are away.

Betting is lively in the corridors. This is a prosperous year, money is free, and everybody is taking a chance on his opinion of what's to be what.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts is one of the striking figures here. The senator's term expires next year and he will have to stand for re-election in the first primary for his office.

Delegates chosen by primaries, 613; by conventions, 373.

Sixteen candidates will be placed before the delegates.

Convention expects to get down to nominations on Friday.

In twenty-eight years every Republican presidential candidate has been chosen on first ballot.

12,400 persons can be accommodated in the Coliseum.

4,000 persons can be seated in the auditorium, where the Progressives are holding their side show.

Mrs. T. S. Pendergras and her daughter Martha left last night for Shamokin, Pa., where they will visit Mrs. Pendergras' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McClure.

MUCH BRIDGE WORK

COUNTY COURT INSPECTING HIGHWAYS NOW.

IN MONROE TWP. TODAY

Judges Will Spend Tomorrow in Nodaway Township—New Structures Ordered.

The county court went to Monroe township this afternoon to accompany the township board of that township in an inspection of some of the bridges there.

The court purchased a 30-foot steel bridge from the Standard bridge company. It will be built on the east and west road near the Sam Nelson place near Barnard. As it is now, there are two bridges near that place and the residents near there have agreed to cut the channel of these creeks so as to join and have only one stream.

One bridge gang commenced work today on a 16-foot steel bridge with cement abutments near the Preston Seafers farm near Harmony church. Another bridge gang is at work on the approaches to the North bridge east of Pickering.

The court will go to Nodaway township tomorrow to examine some bridges.

A new bridge is to be built on the line between Atchison and Nodaway counties about three miles south of the Iowa line. Nodaway will pay for one-half of the concrete bridge and Atchison the other half.

A 4x8x24 concrete culvert was ordered to be built west of Barnard. A 3x3x24 concrete culvert will be built near the James Job farm. Also an approach will be built to the Platte river bridge.

CALL PRAISES NORMAL

PATTONSBURG PAPER PLEASED WITH SCHOOL NO. 5.

President Ira Richardson Is Man for Place, Says Editor—G. N. Gromer Member of Board.

Normal School No. 5, at Maryville, is certainly booming. Up to last Wednesday morning 600 students had been enrolled for the summer term—the largest in the history of the school, and more were coming, so that the probable enrollment will reach near the 800 mark.

President Richardson seems to be the right man in the right place, and has a selected army of instructors associated with him in the work. They have a very strong organization of courses, so that students can get anything they need. The faculty is more and more willing to do anything in their power for the student body, and their work is evidenced by the strong teachers and professional people they are turning out.

Added to this is the fact that Maryville is boosting the school. The board of regents, of which George N. Gromer is vice president, is working in harmony, and the people of the entire district are boosting, because they now know we have a school worth while.

Daviess county is well represented in this term, there being fifteen students enrolled from the Pattonburg community alone.

If you contemplate a course in any line, it will pay you to investigate the merits of the Maryville Normal, the school where you get full value for the time and money expended. Everybody boost for the Northwest Normal school.—Pattonburg Call.

W. O. W. WANT FLOWERS

Graves Will Be Decorated and Band Will Lead Way to Grave of W. B. Blachley.

The committee in charge of the Woodmen memorial services requests that, since there are fifty or more graves to be decorated next Sunday, the members be on hand with their bouquets before 10 o'clock Sunday morning so that all of the graves may be decorated before the afternoon services.

The members of the Woodmen of the World will hold their unveiling ceremony in the Miriam cemetery at 2:30 o'clock next Sunday. The monument will be unveiled at the grave of W. B. Blachley.

Miss Josie Carden, daughter of M. F. Carden, is seriously ill at her home on East Seventh street. She has been in poor health the last four months.

ASQUITH WAR SECRETARY

Premier Will Take Duties of Kitchener Temporarily—No Wilson Peace Moves Seen.

Special to the Democrat-Forum.

Berlin, June 7.—In an address to the sailors of the high seas fleet of the German navy at Wilhelmshaven today, Emperor Wilhelm declared that the supremacy of Great Britain on the high seas has been shattered and that terror has been struck into the heart of England by the great battle at Jutland.

Asquith Into Kitchener's Place.

London, June 7.—It is officially announced that Premier Asquith will act as secretary of war temporarily until a successor to Lord Kitchener can be determined upon.

No Immediate Peace Work.

Washington, June 7.—Diplomatic leaders are now convinced that there is no probability that the president will make any early efforts to secure peace in Europe.

Lansing's dispatch to Ambassador Gerard asking if he has been advocating peace is taken to mean that the administration does not desire to have the attention of the world directed to this country as the gate through which the peace is likely to come.

German Torpedo Boat Down.

Amsterdam, June 7.—A German torpedo boat has been sunk by a mine off Seeburg, according to a telegram received here.

Powerful Attacks on Ft. Vaux.

Paris, June 7.—After brief lulls and following a heavy bombardment, the Germans launched a powerful infantry attack against Fort Vaux, but it was repulsed, according to the French.

Insist Warspite Was Sunk.

Berlin, June 7.—The Overseas News Agency announced that the British battleship, Warspite, had been sunk by Koenig in Jutland battle. The Warspite blew up after having been hit by a heavy shell, according to the Agency.

SECOND SECTION PUT UP

FARMERS TRUST BUILDING COLUMNS WEIGH 116 TONS.

Much Interest Shown as the Derrick Handles Huge Stones With Such Ease.

One of the second sections of the columns for the Farmers Trust company's building were placed this morning in the midst of a large crowd of onlookers. Each one of these stones, of which there are sixteen, weighs seven tons. There will be four sections in each column.

So heavy are these stones that only four can be placed on a flat car. The heaviest drays are used with four-horse teams to transfer the huge stones from the Wabash freight depot to the site of the building. The columns are approximately 10 feet in diameter and 8 feet high.

But in spite of their great weight, it is of interest to the daily throngs to note that the engine and derrick seem to handle them with as much ease as they do the smaller stones for the wall.

The sections are removed from the wagon while lying horizontally in the wooden cases. After being lifted into the air by the crane the wagon is driven out from under and the stone is gradually uprighted as it is lowered again.

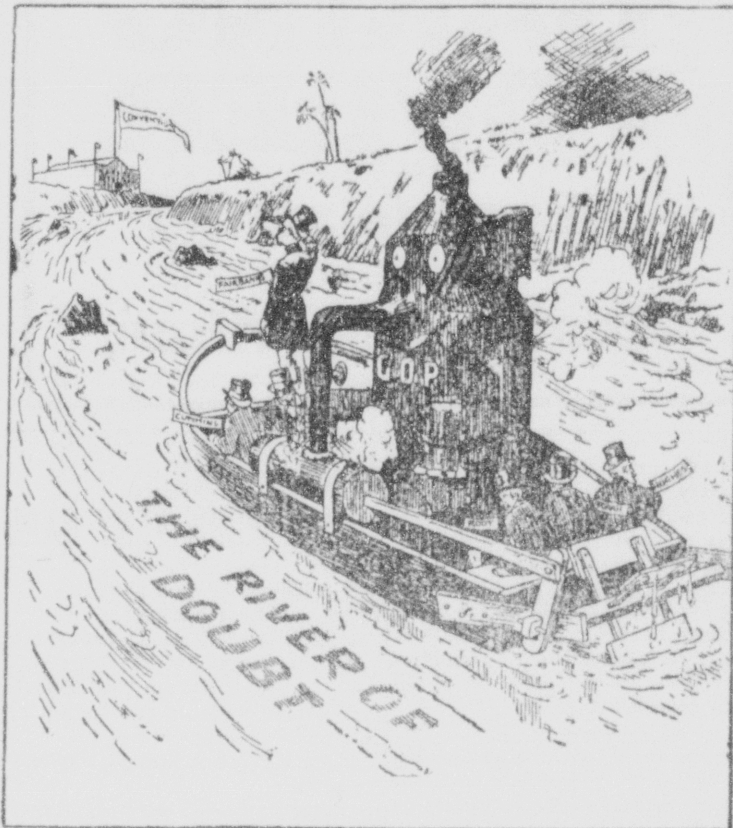

The casing is then removed and the stone is lifted again with the cable attached to the end of the cylinder-shaped stone. Setting the section carefully in place upon the other is a long and tedious job in which the derrick holds the stone just slightly higher than it should be while the masons apply the mortar and make the two sections join exactly.

The bases upon which the columns rest are almost as large and heavy as the sections. The front wall of the building has been laid up to the level of the south wall and the work is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily.

Miss Lawson to Montana.

Miss Virginia Lawson left today for an extended visit in Montana. She will be the guest of Miss Wordie Wilson and Miss Mattie Grives at Hardin and from there will go to Billings, Mont., where she will spend the summer with her father.

DAVIS AIDS HILLES

FORMER MARYVILLE MAN IN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

IN ALL MEETS SINCE '96

Fred Davis Is Nephew of Joseph Jackson Sr. and George B. Davis of This City.

Maryville always likes to hear of the success of her favorite sons who have "gone forth into the world to conquer." The latest step made by a Maryville man on the forward path is noted in the Sioux City Journal. It reads:

"Fred Davis, manager of the Howard Hotel, formerly Washington correspondent for the Sioux City Journal, has gone to Chicago, where he will act as assistant to Charles B. Hilles, chairman of the Republican National Committee, throughout the rest of the pre-convention period and during the National Convention. Mr. Davis worked under Mr. Hilles for three months of the pre-convention period of 1912, having his headquarters in Washington. He was in charge of the committee headquarters in Chicago during the stormy period of the convention, and his experience in former Republican National conventions was of much use to the chairman and members of the National Committee.

Mr. Davis had his first convention experience in 1896, serving on the National Committee, which was then under the leadership of the late Marcus A. Hanna.

Because of the small number of contests to be decided, and because the National Committee had had but little preliminary work to dispose of in advance of the convention, which gives promise of being a larger target for real interest than any similar convention in years, Mr. Davis was able to delay going to headquarters for a time."

Mr. Davis was born and reared here. He is the nephew of Joseph Jackson Sr. and of George B. Davis.

SPECIAL EDITION NEXT MONDAY.

The Democrat-Forum will issue a special "Founding of Maryville" edition next Monday. Besides announcements of general interest concerning the celebration Thursday, June 15, of the seventieth anniversary of the sale of the first town lot in Maryville, the edition will contain much of interest concerning the history of this city. This history will be obtained principally from the oldest residents and not from books. The paper will be sent to all subscribers and will also be put on sale.

LODGE FOR RESOLUTIONS

Special Bulletin.

Chicago, June 7.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts was appointed chairman of the Republican resolutions committee, and Charles F. Scott of Iowa, Kan., secretary. The G. O. P. meeting then adjourned at 1:26 o'clock until 11 o'clock tomorrow. The Progressives' demonstration for Roosevelt lasted an hour and thirty minutes.

TEDDY WILL NOT SUPPORT HUGHES

FLAT ASSERTION MADE REPEATEDLY BY PROGRESSIVES.

PEACE SEEMS STILL MORE REMOTE TODAY

Both Conventions Started Off on Schedule With "State" Being Followed—Open With Songs.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Chicago (Coliseum), June 7.—Word reached Chicago this morning that Roosevelt has decided to run on a third ticket if Hughes is nominated by the Republicans. This news caused a sensation, and a hurried conference among Republican and Progressive leaders followed. The report came at a time when the men who hold the reins were confident that harmony would be brought about.

It has been decided to name a committee to go over the situation, and suggest how harmony can best be obtained. It had been said that Roosevelt had been won to the idea. Borah talked with Roosevelt over the telephone and Borah's friends say that he was confident that Roosevelt would support Hughes if Hughes was nominated.

It's Up to Teddy Alone.

Only Roosevelt himself can prevent the placing in the field of a third party ticket. If he really wants the support of the Progressives for the Republican nominee which he can name, the Republicans will co-operate with the Progressives. But if the threat made today that the third party men will not support Hughes under any circumstances is given in good faith, there can be no peace negotiations.

Let the Progressives do what they may, the Republican party should nominate Justice Hughes and demand that he sacrifice himself for the good of the party. This is the position which is taken as the convention assembled today. The convention was called to order at 11:27 o'clock this morning.

Charles D. Hilles, former private secretary of William Howard Taft and now chairman of the Republican National committee, wielded the gavel that called the 1916 convention into being. After the singing of "America" the opening prayer was led by the Rev. John Timothy Stone, D. D., chaplain.

Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio was elected temporary chairman unanimously and launched out into his "key-note" speech which is given elsewhere in this issue.

Can't Tame the Radicals.

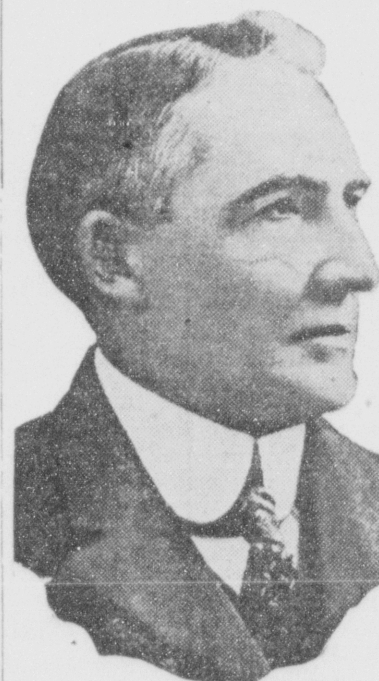

Chicago (Auditorium), June 7.—All efforts to tame the militant Progressives and to delay the naming of a presidential nominee by the Roosevelt party until the Republicans have named their man, failed today after a dozen attempts before the Progressive convention was called to order.

Harmony was the finally accepted idea of the convention of the Progressives and there is little question that Roosevelt will be the nominee of the party.

The assertion is freely made among the delegates that the colonel has given (Continued on Page 3)

Normal News

By William Utter.

You wouldn't know the institution, nearly seven hundred, and you can find a boy occasionally.

Since these items are written by one of the minority, it is well to say that a prettier, livelier bevy of fair ones, never was before assembled. Of course there are some exceptions to this statement, but let it remain as written.

One thing noticeable is that the average standing of students is higher this year than in previous summer terms. That is there are more college rank students than usual.

Ellis Cook is to speak to the student body on Thursday at chapel. We will be glad to hear him. The new hour for chapel is now 9 to 9:40 o'clock.

Do you realize that the Normal has an art department? This in itself is not a fact of tremendous significance, but it is worth knowing that this department is doing work of a very high type. If you care to be shown, just attend the Art Exhibit. This is to be held Monday and Tuesday of next week. The exhibit is in the room next to the Art work room. The hours for the exhibit are 8 to 10 a. m. and 2 to 5 p. m. Remember the days, Monday and Tuesday.

The seniors are beginning to come in, and believe me, it seems nice to see the familiar faces among the unknowns. It's almost like getting a letter from home.

There is talk among the sporting circles of getting up a little excitement in the way of a baseball tournament. Let it come, the fans will be on hands.

C. E. Wells and Harriet Van Buren felt that their task was almost more than two could handle, so Miss Elizabeth Sobbing was added to the corps, which maintains the sanctity of the library.

President and Mrs. Ira Richardson will entertain the seniors at their home Friday evening. This is the first event of Commencement.

The seniors' gift for the school has arrived. More about it later.

The literary societies will not meet tomorrow, since there is to be a full rehearsal of the Shakespearean Pageant.

preferred personalities.

A few moments later in his speech he added:

"And the welcome delegate who emphasizes his progressivism is expected to do his part in making our party a reflex of the best thought and best intent of sincere committal to the uplift and progress of the American people, thereby strengthening party purpose instead of magnifying individual belief, and he, too, will find new rejoicing in being a Republican. No party can endure which is not progressive."

Links Defense and Tariff.

After ridiculing Democratic plans for building up the army and navy, he said that armed defense must ever be linked with industrial self-reliance and industrial preparedness is a prime necessity.

He dwelt for some time on the tariff question, which he said had helped to make Germany great and was probably about to be adopted by Great Britain. "For myself I prefer a protective and productive tariff which prospers America first," he said.

"Present prosperity is only," he said, "the gold sluiced from the river of blood poured out by the horrifying sacrifice of millions of our fellow-men," and permanent prosperity could only be based on a sound tariff law.

Republicans would like to see justice to all the world, he said, and to have every nation bring its standard of living up to the highest in the world, which is the American. But to bring this about, he continued, the United States did not intend to try reducing American standards until conditions were equal to those abroad.

He condemned the proposal to give up the Philippines. He also declared the part of the United States must be trusted leadership in a fraternity of American republics.

He praised the immigrant and said a few zealots of any origin who violate our neutrality cannot impugn the loyalty of the masses.

HOUGHIN COMING JUNE 21

Democratic Candidate for gubernatorial nomination to tell Nodaway voters of his purposes.

Col. James A. Houghin of Jefferson City, Democratic candidate for governor, will address the Democratic voters of Nodaway county on Wednesday, June 21, on the issues he believes to be vital to the success of the state ticket in November.

He will discuss frankly the question of loading down the pay roll with members of official families and the shortcomings of the present financial system of the state. He is not attacking the Democratic administration but he shows that the Republican administration was more to blame.

He has a plan for building three first class highways across every county in the state without a cent of additional taxation, by taking convict labor out of competition with square labor and working the prisoners on the roads.

E. C. St. Claire of Quitman Says Farmers in His Community Have No Right to Kick.

"Everything is looking fine up my way." That's the way E. C. St. Claire, one of the most prominent and successful farmers around Quitman, Mo., puts it. Mr. St. Claire was on the market today with a load of hogs, some of which belonged to his neighbors. "Pasture is very good this spring," said Mr. St. Claire.

"Some of the white clover is a foot high—the best I ever saw. Corn needs a little more sunshine—we are having too much rain. Some corn has not yet been planted. But no one in my neighborhood has any room for kicking. There isn't any danger of a failure and we can depend on this country—the best land in the world."—St. Joseph Stock Yards Journal.

NEWS FROM ALL Northwest Missouri

The newly organized Harrison county fair association is advertising for bids for the erection of an administration building, two large stock barns, a grand stand, one mile of track fence, judges' and band stands, race horse barns and ticket offices. Bids are to be in by June 10, and work will start as soon as possible thereafter.

The Pawnee correspondent of the Bethany Republican says: "Some of the farmers are plowing corn, some are trying to get ready to plant, some are replanting and others are not thru double plowing. The ground is too wet in places to do anything."

J. Matt Burk, a highly respected Harrison county farmer, killed himself last week. He had 200 acres of corn planted on bottom land, and it is thought that two recent overflows in quick succession caused worry and overwork that unbalanced his mind.

J. W. Brooks delivered ninety-three head of hogs here, Wednesday, which brought him the sum of $1,726.70. These hogs were all of his own raising and had been on full feed for 53 days.

Prosecuting Attorney Jarman secured an injunction at court in Unionville, last week, which places Putnam county in line with the counties which have recently enjoined the common carriers from delivering shipments of liquor into their territory, except upon written statement from consignee that liquor is for his own use.

Knox county went dry by a majority of 941.

The people of Grundy county are planning a gala day at Trenton, June 14, at the occasion of the unveiling of the beautiful monument to soldiers and sailors of the Civil war, erected by the Woman's Relief Corps and their friends.

The Spickard Gazette tells of a big motor truck, which passed through that place last week, en route from Chicago to the Mexican frontier, where it will be used in the U. S. army service.

The Richmond Missourian recalls the tornado of June 1, 1878, which destroyed one-third of the city of Richmond, killing 16 persons and 80 head of stock, besides causing untold loss and suffering.

The first settlement in Ray county was at Hardin in 1815, or 101 years ago. The people of that community are expecting to take active and prominent part in the big historical celebration that is to be staged in Northwest Missouri in August and September.

Liberty has retained its teacher of agriculture for another year. He receives a salary of $1,200 a year, of which the school district pays $800, the Liberty banks $300 and the commercial club $100. This arrangement makes it possible for the teacher to devote considerable time to the farm interests of the county at large.

Levi S. Lowry, one of the best known residents of Mercer county, died at Princeton, May 25, having been a resident of the county for sixty-one years. As sheriff of the county during the 90's, he distinguished himself as a brave and capable officer.

Uncle Thos. Griffey, one of Princeton's oldest veterans, received a message early Sunday morning from Davis City, Iowa, announcing the serious illness of his brother-in-law, Wm. McIntosh, at his home in that city. Although eighty-five years of age, Uncle Tom lost no time in starting to the bedside of the sick man. Taking a lunch, he proceeded on the journey a foot, and covered the distance of 22 miles in time for supper.—Princeton Post.

A Liberty merchant had an old iron safe that worked with a lock and key. He had lost the key, and the old safe was simply allowed standing room in the back of the store. One night last week burglars entered the store and spent their time working on the mysterious looking old safe. They opened it all right, but got nothing for their labor.

Marysville is to have a hospital if local medical men and general welfare boosters succeed in their present attempt to incorporate a company for that purpose with a capital stock of $10,000 to $50,000.

Is courage on the wane? The Savannah Reporter reprints from its files the story of a runaway that occurred twenty years ago. L. C. Tilson was standing beside the buggy holding his team while his wife and baby were in the vehicle. The team started to run and Tilson held onto the reins and was dragged two blocks and did not release his hold until kicked in the head by the frightened horses. Last week a paper in an adjoining county tells of a recent runaway in which the driver jumped from the buggy as soon as the team started to run, leaving his wife and children at the mercy of the running mules.

The other day as a Rock Island freight train was pulling out of Weatherby the trainmen found two young fellows in a box car and promptly put them off. Before reaching the next station—Maysville—the train was wrecked and the car in which the boys had been riding was completely smashed. An hour or so later the boys came walking into Maysville a very happy pair, and they had manhood enough about them, says the Maysville Herald, to hunt up the brakeman who put them off and thank him for saving their lives.
